scenarios highlighting pressing social issues. They analyzed the facts, identified legal issues, and crafted PILs that reflect their understanding of public interest law.

The competition fostered a competitive yet collaborative atmosphere, encouraging participants to think critically about legal advocacy. Each drafted PIL was evaluated based on clarity, legal reasoning, and potential impact on the community. This event not only aimed to enhance legal skills but also to instill a sense of responsibility among future lawyers to address social injustices.

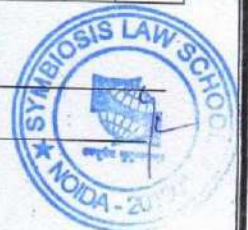

The Devil’s Advocate Competition required participants to critically analyze and argue against given judgments. Students demonstrated legal reasoning, critical thinking, and persuasive advocacy by presenting well-structured arguments. The event involved memo drafting and oral rounds, simulating real-world legal practice, and provided a platform for law students to refine their advocacy skills through engaging legal debates.
