ABSTRACT

The outbreak of pandemic resulted in total closure of all the schools. Though most of the schools went online, many government school across the country could not go online due to financial and infrastructural limitations. Some government schools provided online classes but many not so privileged students could not attend them due to network and infrastructural limitations in their rural neighbourhood. Even in my locality, which does not fall into the rural category, I found there were children deprived of school and education. Through the house keeping maid in my home I got to know about three children who were deprived of basic education. One of them was the maid's daughter. I decided to give them free tuition classes. Along with the tuition classes I also give them piano lessons.

CONCEPT NOTE & OBJECTIVE

- Providing free tuition classes to the children who are deprived of school education due to the outbreak of coronavirus.

PRELIMINARY PREPARATIONS

- I give them tuition at my residence. All the covid 19 guidelines are adhered to.
- Since the children are only three in number, it becomes easier for me to follow and make them follow covid guidelines.

CONDUCTING THE CLASSES

- I conduct the classes for four days a week. Out of the four days one day is for piano classes.
- At times instead of teaching I make them play interactive games. It helps in shaping their verbal and analytical skills.
- I teach them general science, history, geography, English and Elementary Mathematics.
- I try to make them understand the concept and skill rather than making them memorize. However, memorizing is also imperative and equally important as when required.
- They enjoy the piano class the most. I teach them the basic piano and also make them sing different poems and rhymes.

RESPONSE

- They really enjoy coming for the tuition. They get to interact with each other, talk and play among themselves.
- They involve very well in the interactive games and the piano lessons.

FUTURE PLAN OF ACTION

- I wish to continue teaching them until I am in my hometown due to the pandemic or until their school re-opens, either way.
